Mental Health Resources and OC Navigator

Just like your physical health, you cannot live a healthy life without also taking care of your mental health. While Brownson is not certified to provide on-campus mental-health services, we can provide this extensive list of Orange County resources to you. We encourage you to utilize the resources found online on OC Navigator's website, which you can access by scanning the QR code below. OC Navigator also can help connect you to medical services, local housing, etc. Please visit ocnavigator.org or scan the QR code below to get started with OC Navigator!

Studying Tips and Resources

Do you need help preparing for a test? The 10 tips below can help you study for your next exam:

1. KNOW WHAT TO EXPECT: Find out what material will be covered and what type of questions will be on the test.
2. THINK LIKE YOUR INSTRUCTOR: Review your notes, homework, quizzes, handouts, and classwork. These can give you clues about what's important.
3. MAKE YOUR OWN STUDY AIDS: Turn your notes into flashcards, practice questions, or a mini practice test. Testing yourself is better than simply rereading your notes.
4. PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE: Work through practice problems and questions similar to what you expect to see on the test.
5. STUDY A LITTLE EVERY DAY: Don't wait until the night before. Short, regular study sessions can help you find and fix weak areas early.
6. ELIMINATE DISTRACTIONS: Put your phone away, silence notifications, and find a quiet place to focus. Take short breaks to stay fresh.
7. BREAK IT INTO SMALLER PIECES: Big topics can feel overwhelming. Divide the material into smaller sections and master one piece at a time.
8. REVIEW THE "EASY" STUFF, TOO: Don't ignore material you already know. A quick review can help prevent careless mistakes and forgotten details.
9. SHOW UP & ASK QUESTIONS: Attend class and review sessions. If something doesn't make sense, ask your instructor for help before test day.
10. DO A QUICK REVIEW BEFORE THE TEST: Refresh your memory with your flashcards, notes, or key concepts. A quick review can help keep important information fresh.

Transportation and Carpooling Resources

Is driving to school every day not an option for you? Is it not cost-effective enough to Uber to and from Brownson either? If any of these are the case, we encourage you to take advantage of local low-cost transportation services listed below!

- OC Bus (Cost: $2.00 one-way)
  - Brownson is located only 0.2 miles away from the Ball-Anaheim bus stop, which is along OCTA Bus Route 46. Scan the QR code below for route info and bus route planning information.
- OCTA Vanpool Service (Cost: Varies depending on distance)
  - OCTA Vanpool is an OCTA-subsidized alternative to Uber. You and 6-14 others will rideshare from approximately the same locations. Scan the QR code below for the OCTA Vanpool website.
- Reaching Out To A Classmate
  - If there are no good options from OCTA for you, we encourage you to reach out to a classmate to find out if carpooling together is an option for the both of you.
